Trillium Mutual Launches Data Breach and Cyber Coverage for Agriculture and Commercial Lines

March 3, 2016, LISTOWEL ON, - Trillium Mutual Insurance Company is pleased to announce that it has partnered with The Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company of Canada (HSB BI&I) to launch two new products designed specifically for small to medium sized commercial and agricultural operations.

Data Compromise Coverage helps businesses notify and assist affected individuals following a breach of personally identifying information. This coverage provides indemnity for first party expenses as well as third party costs of defence, settlement and judgement.

CyberOne® Coverage protects businesses against damage to electronic data and computer systems from a computer attack such as viruses, hacking or a denial of service attack. Coverage responds to events that damage or degrade data and systems. It also pays for defence and liability costs for an insured's security system failure, including breach of third party business information.

"All businesses today collect and store increasing amounts of confidential information and rely heavily on computer systems which are vulnerable to attack," said Mike Virley, Vice President of Member Services at Trillium Mutual Insurance. "These coverages are available with scalable limits at a modest price point specifically designed for small to medium sized operations and allow us to continue to provide a complete insurance solution for our business and agricultural clients."
